

CHARLOTTE ROSCOW
CIVIL CEREMONIES

A message to both of you

Firstly may I take this opportunity to congratulate you on your decision to get married. It is a privilege for me to be part of a couple's day as they embark upon this next chapter of their life together.

As a celebrant, my role is to write a ceremony that represents who you are both individually, and as a couple. Your exact wishes are the only consideration, and I hope to make the most important part of your wedding day memorable for many years to come.

Celebrant weddings give you a wider selection of venues, and total control over which elements you would like to include. Whether your tastes are traditional or unconventional, the choice is yours, and a celebrant ceremony gives you the chance to wed in a location no one else has before.

I look forward to writing and performing a beautiful ceremony for your special day.

Charlotte

CHARLOTTE ROSCOW
CIVIL CEREMONIES

Your choice of VENUE

If you've ever seen a photoshoot of a wedding somewhere unusual, and wondered how they did it, it's because they had a celebrant ceremony. Free of your local council's restrictions, the only limit is your imagination. Your venue search could be made easier by including historic buildings, or unique gardens that don't have a wedding licence.

Delight your guests by having a wedding somewhere that no one else has.

Photographer: Angels With Dirty Faces

Photographer: Kate Cowdrey

Your choice of OFFICIANT

The ceremony is the most important part of your wedding day, why wouldn't you want to meet the person conducting it beforehand?

Unlike a council registrar ceremony, where you get allocated whoever is on duty that day, a celebrant wedding gives you the chance to choose exactly the right person to write and perform the service. And of course, you can choose what colours Charlotte wears when conducting your ceremony.

You've carefully chosen everything else for your wedding. So why not the person conducting it?

Your choice of WORDS

Every ceremony that Charlotte writes is unique, and tailored precisely to the personality, tastes, and sentiments of the two people who are getting married.

No two wedding ceremonies are the same, and you are free to include whichever elements you like. Unlike a civil ceremony, you can choose to include religious themes in a celebrant ceremony, and more than one religion if you are looking for something that's reflects both you or your families' different beliefs.

But beyond that, you are free to choose the words exactly, or be guided towards a fitting and bespoke ceremony written just for you.

Photographer: James Fear

Photographer: Nancy Fild

Registered celebrant
CHARLOTTE ROSCOW

Charlotte Roscow LLB (Hons) is a registered wedding celebrant and funeral celebrant based in London and the Home Counties, performing ceremonies across the United Kingdom and, by request, abroad in France or further afield.

After several years as an actress on London's West End, Charlotte originally spent several years working as a Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages in Hertfordshire. Now, working as a professional celebrant she composes and conducts bespoke wedding ceremonies, funerals and naming ceremonies.

Charlotte Roscow is a registered celebrant with the Association of Independent Celebrants

CHARLOTTEROSCOW.CO.UK

CHARLOTTE ROSCOW
CIVIL CEREMONIES

